

John Clark, Executive Vice President, Sales and Marketing
Aisin World Corp. of America

John Clark is Executive Vice President of Aisin World Corp. of America (AWA), one of the world's largest Tier One suppliers of automotive components. Clark and his team are principally responsible for Original Equipment Sales and Product Planning in North America. He reports directly to the president.

In addition to direct customer contact, Clark oversees interface between AWA team members and Aisin's North American plants in order to meet quality, delivery and customer satisfaction standards. He is responsible for maintaining the company's overall relationship across all product groups, in addition to company marketing and product planning activities. Under his leadership, AWA has been awarded a number of quality, delivery and technology awards from customers Toyota and Honda.

Clark, who had been vice president of sales for all Asian customers, joined Aisin in 2003 as director of North American Customer Sales. He was later promoted to assistant vice president, Asian Customer Sales

Previously, Clark was executive vice president with Niles USA, Inc., a leading manufacturer of automotive switches and sensor technology. Clark, who speaks fluent Japanese, attended college in Tokyo, and was a resident of Japan for eight years. He earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Japanese from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and resides in Milford, Mich.